

Editorial Notes

Editorial Board

Welcome to the first issue of the third volume of the International Journal of Hidden Data Mining and Scientific Knowledge Discovery. We have completed the second volume and begun the new volume “VOL 3”.

Authors are strongly encouraged to submit their research works to the HDSKD journal: Hidden data mining and scientific knowledge discovery (a peer reviewed journal).

We recall that the criteria of selection are based on the review decision, which will lead to the acceptance or reject of the paper.

We also recall that there is no publication charge for authors and no subscription fees for the readers, although the management of the journal is a quite difficult task, which requires volunteers, money and time. Anyway, the journal is a non-profit academic source of knowledge and we hope it will remain so.

Respectfully
The Editorial Board